25X1

1. The plan for the expansion of the railway station at Fuerstenberg/Oder in 1953 is completed. The construction costs are to total 2,800,000 eastmarks.
2. The plan provides for the following:
 - a. Reconstruction of the road bridge on the south side of the station, to permit the passage of three tracks.
 - b. Extension of the station track as far as the bridge, thereby extending the freight tracks to 750 meters.
 - c. Construction of a siding track at the station.
 - d. Construction of a track between the station and the cement plant, 2 km north of the station.
3. The reconstruction of traffic facilities and the expansion of the locomotive handling facilities have been postponed.
